Highway Out

With the Ocean Shore highway at Pedro mountain definitely closed possibly until midsummer by the latest and heaviest of a series of slides that have made it impossible since the first of the year, County Executive Frederick Peterson last week was in San Francisco to confer with highway officials on probable means of securing a detour for semi-isolated coastside residents.

Fiesta Parade

Plans for a county wide Fiesta parade to replace the previous Fiesta Fandango parade were announced today by the San Mateo junior chamber of commerce.

President William Taylor said the Fiesta parade will be held on Friday, September 20, which has been designated as San Mateo county day at the Fiesta.

"In an effort to make this a complete, countywide parade" Taylor said, "the county has been divided into eight sections which members of the junior chamber will canvass to secure participation."

Each section, he said, will have a list of prizes for which entries will compete. There will be a sweepstakes prize for the best entry in the entire parade.

Mongini, struck while crossing Junipero Serra boulevard near School street, was hit with such force that his body made a dent six inches deep in the fender and tore the tough metal like paper.

The victim then bounced into the windshield, shattering the shatterproof glass and lodged in the hole his body had made in the windshield. The jar of Mrs. McColloch's machine hitting a north-

Sign Contract For Street Work

"The best news that Daly City has received in a long time" was the way that city officials characterized the long-awaited signing of the materials contract for the South End streets job, Thursday.

Clear sailing seemed to be ahead once more for the controversial $253,000 WPA streets improvement project as Hanrahan Connolly company affixed their signatures to the $89,925 contract they were awarded approximately one month ago.

Delivery of materials was started this week. City officials stated today that a large crew of WPA workers will resume operations on the job within the next few days.

Plant life and birds will be studied on the way as the group passes through meadows and valleys. Special attention will be given to the numerous varieties of wild flowers now in bloom.

"We believe," says Bruce H. Boynton, local recreation head, "that this group hike will be far more beneficial than the usual May Pole dance, and that it will add a healthy exercise to a pleasant day."

New Chapter In Double Slaying

Another chapter in the sensational Lagomarsino case this week apparently had solved the mysterious double slaying of Leo Tyma and Ray Lagomarsino at the Wavecrest Tavern near Half Moon Bay, November 1.

Three dramas and a comic are being rehearsed. One of the dramatic skits was heard on a network program last year.

Woodrow Wilson School Publishes Attractive Paper

Dedicated to the American Flag and to two great Americans—Washington and Lincoln—the 15 year's edition of the Woodrow Wilson elementary school paper, "The Herald," was issued last week.

Each child, teacher and class as a whole had a definite part in planning, organizing, typing, mimeographing and assembling the paper.

A student staff, headed by a student editor-in-chief, took care of the sales, circulation, advertising, news, editorials, jokes, art and mimeographing. The youthful journalists were aided by the supervision of the faculty.

Planned as one of the many extracurricular activities which are integrated with actual school work, the paper was one of several student achievements which culminated during Public Schools Week.

Former issues of "The Herald" have been dedicated to the new schools, the administration building, the PTA and the school operettas. Last year's issue, dedicated to the American Legion, received recognition and praise from local, state, and national American Legion units.

This year's dedication to the principles of American democracy is made the subject of an attractive colored cover, the work of a class art lesson in the seventh and eighth grades.

A dedication written by the student editor, Herbert Buckenmeyer, high eighth grade pupil, will be printed in next week's issue of The Record.

Package Receiver

A package receiver, installed in the wall of the kitchen, is a useful but not costly feature which adds considerably to the comfort of the family and to efficiency in the home. They are installed in the walls and have vertical shafts which permit soiled clothes and linen to be dropped directly to the laundry.

Daly City high school students are cooperating in the nation-wide crusade.

CLEAN-UP WEEK—

Next week all Daly City is invited to participate in the third annual observance of Clean-up Week.

The Record would like to see an unprecedented success accorded this program. Not only is the plan of benefit to individual residents, it is of paramount good for the community as a whole.

Nothing so indicates the character of a city as its physical appearance. Untidy yards, cluttered with rubbish indicate small love of home and community. Property kept neat and tidy tells a different tale. It speaks more loudly than any words in saying, "Daly City is my home, it's a good place to live and I'm proud of it."

In the news columns of this week's paper citizens will find complete details of this free clean-up program.

Club Metropal Picnic Sunday

Club Metropal tallied up the supply order for the monster picnic Sunday, at Vallemar Park, Rockaway Beach, at a special meeting last night.

Nearly four hundred pounds of steer beef, 75 dozen buns, gallons of mustard and gallons and gallons of chili beans—all for the free barbecue.

The barbecue is only part of the all-day program, club officials said today. There will be dancing to the music of the Rhythm Makers, a baseball game, games and races for which there will be prizes.

A public address system will be used for an informal amateur contest, and amusements are planned for all ages. There will be a booth for refreshments.

"The entire club is working hard to guarantee that there will not be a dull moment all day," promised President Dick Regni.

Lighter Cakes Appropriate

By Frances Lee Barton

LIGHTER cakes are in order as the temperature rises — particularly if these cakes may be made with comparatively little exertion, and yet prove delicious enough to please all who sample them. Here's a recipe that I am sure will fill the mercury — climbing bill:

Marble Angel Food Cake

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sifted cake flour; 2 tablespoons breakfast cocoa; 1 cup egg whites; $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon cream of tartar; $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups sifted granulated sugar; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once; measure. To 6 tablespoons flour, add cocoa and sift together four times. Sift remaining $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour four times. Beat egg whites and salt with flat wire whisk. When foamy, add cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff enough to hold up in peaks, but not dry. Fold in sugar carefully, 2 tablespoons at a time. Divide mixture in two parts. To one, fold in flour and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla. To other, fold in flour and cocoa mixture, then $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla. Put by tablespoons into ungreased angel food pan, alternating white and dark mixtures. Bake in slow oven (275° F.) 30 minutes, then increase heat to 325° F. and bake 30 minutes longer. Remove from oven and invert pan 1 hour, or until cold.

gard to another case, Thompson blurted out the words which may send him to the San Quentin gas chamber: "I clipped Tyma."

He now claims that he returned to the scene of the shooting about 20 minutes after Tyma, a New York "dead end kid," and Lagomarsino, the Colma bad boy and former Alcatraz inmate, started firing at each other.

According to the authorities who questioned him, Thompson's confession is that he saw both bodies on the ground and examined Lagomarsino and found he was dead. He picked up Lagomarsino's revolver, which was lying near the body, and turned to enter the garage nearby. A shot whizzed by him. He turned and saw Tyma with a revolver in his hand, leaning on his elbow. Thompson fired three shots at pointblank range into Tyma's head.

Thompson, Lagomarsino and Tyma escaped from a Folsam road camp near Bakersfield, made their way to Daly City, where they burglarized the home of a deputy sheriff, stealing two police revolvers. They found haven at Wavecrest Tavern. Lagomarsino and Tyma fell out, authorities recalled, and Tyma went to San Francisco. Tyma and a companion, Jimmy Lee, returned to the Wavecrest November 1, looking for Lagomarsino and Thompson, who drove up a short while later.

Lagomarsino and Tyma quarreled over a "job" and, according to both Lee and Thompson, started shooting. Both witnesses fled. Thompson insisted that Tyma and Lagomarsino killed each other.

He admitted disposing of the bodies by dumping them over a cliff near Thornton Beach. He was arrested at the Wavecrest Tavern, next afternoon, and Lee was apprehended in San Francisco.

Treaty of Ghent

At Ghent, in Flanders, on December 14, 1814, the famous peace treaty was signed which formally declared at an end the War of 1812 between England and the United States. News of the treaty did not reach this country until February and fighting was still going on in Louisiana.

Fox Terrier Blamed For Auto Crash

The restlessness of a little fox terrier, who wasn't used to riding, brought his owner, Mrs. C. B. Bingham, 91 Mizpah street, into Judge Wade H. Clay's court on Friday to face reckless driving charges.

Mrs. Bingham explained that it was the sudden jump of her pet before her in the front seat which caused her to lose control of her car and crash into another automobile parked in the 7200 block on Mission street. Judge Clay suspended a fine of $25.

Other traffic offenders included James Baird jr., 1057 Brunswick street, fined $25 for reckless driving; James Granaghan, South San Francisco, $2.50, speeding; William McKenzie 1657 Market street, $5, speeding; Silvester M. Jackson, 816½ Shotwell street, $2.50, disregarding a signal; Axel Johnson, 4201 Twenty-second street, $2, signal; Joe D. Exciting Theme Is Dramatized In New Picture Brunette tressed Betty Field, the Hollywood actress who says "Unh-Unh" to glamour and means it, plays the role of Mae, the heroine of Hal Roach's production of "Of Mice and Men," the screen version of John Steinbeck's powerful novel, which is scheduled for its initial showing at the Daly City theatre, tomorrow, when it begins a three-day run. Produced and directed by Lewis Milestone, this new production co-stars with Miss Field, Burgess Meredith of "Winterset" fame and Lon Chaney jr., namesake and scion of a great movie family. In the supporting cast of the film are such top-notchers as Charles Bickford, Roman Bohnen, Bob Steele, Noah Beery jr., Granville Bates and Leigh Whipper.

The story of "Of Mice and Men" was transferred to the screen from a script based on the Broadway stage hit and written by Eugene Solow and dramatizes the life of the "bindle-stiffs," or migratory workers on Aguora ranch in California. Against an impressive pictorial background, "Of Mice and Men" highlights the careers of two men—George and Lennie. It shows the hopes and dreams, the drama and tragedy, the humor and pathos of these central figures; it details ranch life and its vast implications for those humans who go from job to job on the path to nowhere.

Companion feature on the new bill will be "Little Accident," starring Hugh Herbert, Florence Rice and Baby Sandy.

STRANGE MEETING

Betty Field and Lon Chaney, jr., are involved in this scene which takes place at Aguora ranch, the setting "Of Mice And Men," the Hal Roach production which is on view at the Daly City theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Announce Title Of Mountain Play

Date of the Mountain Play this year is set for May 19. "The World We Live In," a translation from the Czechoslovakian, will be the vehicle for this twenty-seventh annual pageant drama of Mount Tamalpais.

The play is the work of Josef and Karel Capek, masters in the art of satirical fantasy, and presents a startling analogy between the behavior of insect creatures and that of human beings.

High spot in the dramatic action is that of the third act in which two tribes of ants war to the death for the privilege of crossing a woodland path between two blades of grass. Written some years ago, this act might well have come from the authors' pen during the past season. Delicate and beautiful are the love scenes of the butterflies, the ballet of the moths, and the dance of life and death. Human greed and struggle are also deftly portrayed and easily interpreted by the audience.

Annually some five to six thousand gather to witness the spectacle produced by the Mountain Play association, a group of out of door enthusiasts of the bay district. No actor receives pay for his services, yet on past programs are many names famous now on stage, screen and radio.

Scene of the play is a natural amphitheater at the summit of the mountain in Tamalpais State Park, Marin county. Any profits from the production must be used in improving the site. Automobile roads as well as hiking trails lead directly to the theater. Lunch baskets and a picnic in the open add vastly to the day's enjoyment.

Flags Of All States Sought For State Fair

Flags of all of the states of the nation and the two territories were sought today in letters written by Secretary of State Paul Peek. They are wanted, he wrote, for a special display on Governor's Day at the California State Fair, September 5.

The eighty-sixth annual fair opens August 30 and runs through September 9, featuring agriculture, night show, racing, horse show, fireworks, funway and hundreds of minor attractions.

In his letter Peek told the various secretaries of state California hoped to be their host on Governor's Day.

Judge W. H. Clay Dismisses Charges

Felony drunk driving and felony hit-run charges against William Hutchings, 2649 Folsom street, were dismissed last Tuesday by Judge Wade H. Clay for insufficient evidence.

The prosecution failed to prove that Hutchings had been intoxicated when his car struck and injured Martin Rasmussen, 43, 751 Niantic avenue, February 23, or that he had failed to render assistance to Rasmussen following the accident.

bound car, threw him to the ground.

Mrs. McColloch swerved in an effort to avoid Mongini as he stepped on to the highway and her car crashed into the car of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jonston, 1611 Anza street, which was headed for San Francisco.

Mongini was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Junipero Serra hospital a few minutes later. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were treated for cuts and scratches and Mrs. McColloch for minor cuts and bruises.

Both cars were so badly wrecked that they had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

DOWNTOWN

Curran

Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer Prize play, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," which comes to the Curran theatre, San Francisco, on Saturday, for seven days only, with Raymond Massey in person in the title role, is a simple, strong and beautiful play, wise, humane and warmly human. It may well be a great play, something that will be measured, in the years to come, against those rare dramas that have stood the test of time.

It was born of a great playwright's high regard for a great American. It is animated inspired and flung to soaring theatrical heights by a great actor's art.

The Lincoln Mr. Sherwood has reared of words and phrases Raymond Massey brings magnificently to life. The author and star have drawn their vivid pictures of the Great Emancipator as a complex, brooding creature of many moods, a strong, homely, melancholy man of high destiny; a completely rounded, inspired and inspiring character.

This is the Lincoln of young manhood and of middle age; the shiftless, amiable, groping, uncertain country bumpkin; long-shanked, awkward, graceless, moody; given to homely humor and kindly forbearance. This is the unsettled, moody, contradictory young man of New Salem and Springfield in the Illinois of the early 1800's, the village postmaster who becomes a country lawyer, the indolent rustic who becomes President of the United States.

Wisecracks, both in and out of the theatre maintain that "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" is THE great American play.

The Playwright's Company is sending the original company here. The cast includes, besides the star, many well-known players. This is the original stage play and will be seen exactly as it was presented for eighteen months in New York and twelve weeks in Chicago.

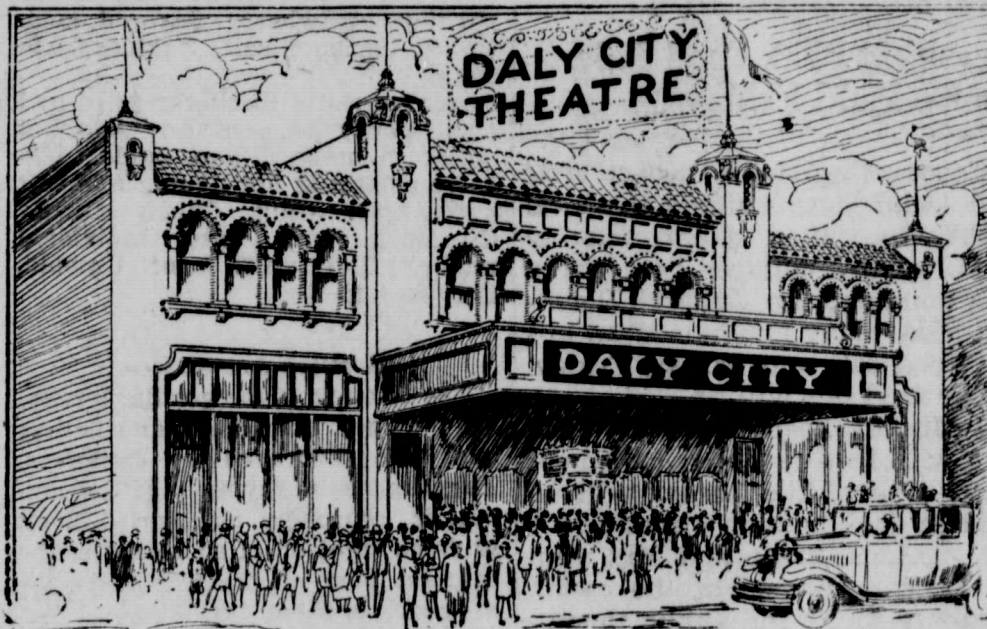

Geary

Strange as it may seem, Paul Muni, who has been one of film-land's leading stars for more than ten years, with an enviable record of great pictures to his credit, has never made a personal stage appearance in San Francisco. This precedent is soon to be shattered, however, since Muni will be starring in prison in Maxwell Anderson's latest hit, "Key Largo," which will play for two weeks at the Geary theatre, beginning Monday evening.

Maxwell Anderson's story concerns the return of a disillusioned idealist who fought as an American volunteer with the Spanish Loyalist forces against Mussolini and Franco, the disastrous effect upon him of his experience in war, and his struggle for spiritual regeneration, aided and inspired by the girl Alegre.

Paul Muni's personal appearance in "Key Largo" is his first stage engagement since his tour in Elmer Rice's "Counsellor at Law" seven years ago. Since his previous activity in the theatre Muni has become world-renowned through his many masterpieces of characterization in the films, as a sinister gangster of "Scarface," the hunted quarry of "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," the vigorous coal miner of "Black Fury," the wisecracking newspaperman of "Hi, Neliel," the scientist of "Pasteur," the intellectual with his passion for truth in "Zola," the impassive Indian statesman of "Juarez." In considering a return to the stage, Muni read hundreds of plays, finding none that suited him until Maxwell Anderson sent him "Key Largo" last fall. The famous screen star found this work so impressive that he at once consented to play its leading role.

Opposite Muni, in the coveted role of the girl Alegre, will be Helen Beverley, who was the bright engaging ingenue in Nazimova's famous production of Ibsen's "Ghosts," as well as in the film "Green Fields."

Springtime Soups To Make You Glad

Dorothy Greig

GRANNIE used to say: "There's nothing like good hot soup to keep folks feeling lively." And Grannie, as usual, was right. Soup tunes up the digestion, I suppose, because it's hot, liquid, and comes at the beginning of the meal. At any rate, it makes you feel good.

Tomato Scotch Broth is a wonderfully savory soup for springtime meals.

These days, too, soups are so savory and have such flavor. Have you, for instance, tried the new trick of combining one soup with another? Here are a couple of suggestions:

Tomato Scotch Broth

1 can condensed tomato soup
1 can condensed Scotch broth
2 cans water

Combine the tomato and Scotch broth soups. Then add two cans of water, using the soup can for a measure. Heat to the boiling point and simmer 3-4 minutes. Serves 5-7 portions.

Chicken-Vegetable Soup

1 can condensed chicken soup
2 cans water (using soup can for measure)

1 can condensed vegetable soup
Combine the condensed chicken and vegetable soups. Then add 2 cans of water. Heat and serve. Serves 5-7.

These Save the Ship

By Frances Lee Barton

A BOX of mixed biscuit and a mixed biscuit box is a twister that often wrecks tongues on the rocks.

Try to prattle it quickly. Missed the target, eh what? All right! Try these biscuits. They'll hit the right spot:

Cheese Drop Biscuits

2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 4 tablespoons butter or other shortening; 1 cup grated American cheese; 1 cup milk (about).

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening and cheese. Add milk gradually, stirring until soft dough is formed. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 18 biscuits.

Cherries Ripe and Cherries Red

HAVE you any of this year's sour cherries available? If not, do you have a can or two left over from last season? If the answer is still "No!", I suggest you purchase some and try the following recipe for a dessert that will surprise and delight those to whom it is served. Easy to make, economical and delicious — a real "three-in-one" tasty.

Currant Ruby Molds

½ cup dried currants; 1 cup red cherry juice (from canned sour cherries); 1 cup hot water; 1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin; ½ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons sugar.

Add currants to cherry juice and cook slowly 10 minutes. Add hot water to make 1 pint liquid. Dissolve gelatin in hot liquid. Add salt and sugar. Chill. When slightly thickened turn into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 4 to 6.

Gorillas Are Sissies

The ferocity of the gorilla, terrifying "boogey" of screen and fiction, has been disproved by explorers. They agree in saying that the animal is extremely shy and difficult to catch sight of, often hiding in the thickest part of the woods on the approach of man.

Springtime Salads Have New Tricks

Dorothy Greig

DO you ever get tired of looking at salads that are a bit of this and that plunked down in the center of a lettuce leaf? I know I do. So the other day I did something different.

I mixed a zesty chopped filling of vegetables, hard cooked eggs and so on, rolled it in lettuce leaves and then chopped the rolls in short lengths. Maybe you would like to try it, too. It is called:

Lettuce Salad Fingers

Mix and spread the following mixture on crisp leaves of lettuce. Roll up and chill. Cut into 1 inch lengths and serve 3 or 4 to a plate, with French Dressing.

Filling:

4 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 can condensed vegetable soup
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
2 cups shredded carrots

Chop the eggs and pimiento very fine and combine with the soup. Add lemon juice, salad dressing and mix. Add carrots.

LOOK Lady! with JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

The green-eyed monster is bedeviling many a gal these days. And, all because feminine figures have been on the loose for so long we hardly know how to gather them back into the folds of the new frocks.

If we'd use our eyes for to see with, we'd observe that the lassies who wear the new clothes so beautifully are the ones who make their bodies obey them.

Yes, they're the girls who've learned that posture isn't a seven-letter word for "position of the body" but a physical plan of action necessary for wearing clothes successfully.

Sighing and weeping—even a bit of polite cussing—over curved shoulders, caved-in chests, relaxed midribs and pushed-forward heads won't help.

No! It will take a bit of fire and iron—both in will and muscle power—to mold yourself back into the kind of shape which will do justice to the new frocks. But, aren't they worth it?

After all is said and done—it's the muscles that hold the body up—or let it sag. It's the muscles that must obey the commands sent by the brain. And, they can't obey—no matter how much you will it—unless they are physically able.

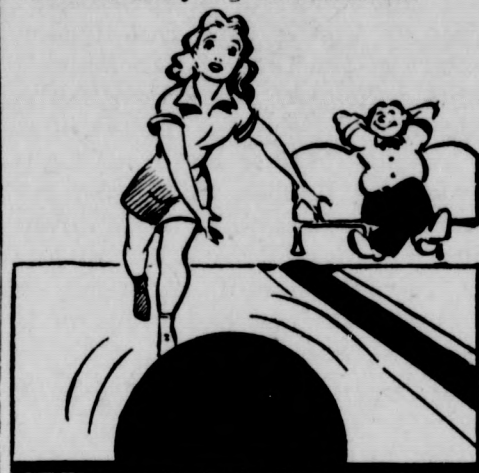

Girls who bowl regularly will tell you that one of the nicest things bowling has done for them is to improve their posture. It makes the body alert, alive—glad to stand erect and move smoothly.

Bowling does this because it stretches and pulls the kinks out of tired, relaxed muscles. Continued stretching and pulling of the muscles firms them—peps them up—makes them elastic, pliable, healthful.

You see, bad posture usually sneaks up on us when we're tired. And, this being a hectic, high-pressure world, we're apt to be tired and let down pretty often unless we recognize the symptoms and do something about it.

Regular bowling works all the muscles at one time, gets them in the notion of working together smoothly, gets them in the habit of obeying commands.

With all these figure benefits working for your improved posture—and while you're having a perfectly grand time taking a crack at that king pin at the end of the mapleways—it will be no time at all before the green-eyed monster will be nibbling only those gals who don't bowl regularly!

What do you look for in

WINDOW GLASS?

IN buying window glass for a new home or to replace cracked or broken panes, you are interested in three qualifications of the glass you choose. First, clear vision. Pennvernion Window Glass is remarkably transparent and free from defects — and offers a new, life-like clearness of vision. Second, beauty. Pennvernion Window Glass has a unique brilliance of finish on both sides of the sheet — and is, therefore, better-looking than ordinary glass. Third, price. Despite its superiority, Pennvernion costs no more — because of unusually fine facilities for production and distribution. So when you buy window glass, buy Pennvernion. You can always identify it by the Pennvernion label on every light — put on at the factory and left on till you use the glass.
